

Angels are Aliens, Aliens are Angels

The Bible makes numerous references to other beings which God created besides humans called “Angels”. The Bible recognizes two types, good angels and bad angels. The bad angels were originally good angels, but they corrupted themselves, starting with Satan (Lucifer) their leader. (Isa. 14:12) The Bible usually calls the bad angels “demons” or “devils”, but sometimes they are called: “Sons of God”, as in Gen. 6:2, 4. Maybe they were called this because they had not yet corrupted themselves. But, they were at the very point of doing it.

These beings have the ability to appear to humans in different forms. The first time Satan appeared he was a talking snake in the Garden of Eden. (Gen. 3) However, in the book of Revelation he appears as a: “great red dragon”. (Rev. 12:3; 20:2)

These beings also have the ability to present themselves to humans in other forms, such as ghosts of dead humans, normal looking humans, unusual apparitions (such as: big foot, leprechauns, the abominable snowman, mermaids, sirens and things that go bump in the night, etc.) or as extraterrestrial aliens with big heads and small bodies that seem to come from some other planet. (And many other possible forms, too.)

They can even appear to people using unusual vehicles that seem to be space ships. Those vehicles are always supernatural in character and can move in manners that defy the laws of physics. For example: they can move very fast instantly without the need for an acceleration process. Normal physical objects can't do that. They can change directions instantaneously at high speeds at any angle without the normal need for re-acceleration in the new direction (no need for curving); they can disappear and re-appear at will. Those beings don't really need those vehicles for themselves. Those vehicles are for the sake of human understanding and perception.

However, since those beings and vehicles are supernatural in nature they are not susceptible to non-supernatural occurrences such as accidents or death, like the one publicized at Roswell, New Mexico, July 3, 1947. Supernatural aliens do not die or have mortal accidents.

The occurrence at Roswell in 1947 was of a supposed alien spaceship crashing and 5 dead alien bodies found, small bodies with big heads. This occurrence was clearly much different than the supernatural alien encounters reported at other times and places. It was also “covered up” by the US government so that no outsiders could see what really happened. The Roswell incident was clearly non-supernatural in nature..... And as an alien encounter, it was a deliberate hoax. Angels can't die. Luke 20:36 “.....Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection.”

Those aliens at Roswell were as much real aliens as the Phantom of the Opera was a real ghost. As soon as the Phantom of the Opera demanded money from the owners of the theater he identified himself as a mortal person. Real ghosts don't have any need for money. And if they wanted any money, they could take it without asking. They could take it right out of a safe without opening the door of the safe. (Acts 12:1-19)

When a real ghost is seen by a human being, the common reaction is that the person's hair stands up and they tremble. Job 4:13-15 “In thoughts from the visions of the night, when deep sleep falleth on men, 14- Fear came upon me, and trembling, which made all my bones to shake. 15- Then a spirit passed before my face; the hair of my flesh stood up:....” also Dan 5:5,6 “....In the same hour came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaister (plaster) of the wall of the king's palace: and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote. 6- Then the king's countenance (face) was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his loins (mid-section) were loosed, and his knees smote one against another.....” (A hand without a body appeared and wrote something on the wall. This is the origin of the phrase: “the writing is on the wall” meaning that what is written is a definite prophecy that absolutely will happen. Please read all of Daniel 5.)

The Bible clearly states that one of the most important reasons why God sent the flood, in the book of Genesis, was that those “angels”, rather “fallen angels” or “demons”, were openly and regularly inter-mingling too much with human beings, before the flood. It even says that they were inter-mating with human women and producing children that were half human and half demon. Those half human children were treated as royalty by the regular people. Gen 6:4 “There were giants (great, mighty men) in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God (angels) came in unto the daughters of men, and they bore children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown.” Hercules was an example of one of those half human offspring. The giant champion gladiator Goliath who David killed was probably one of those off-spring. (1Sam. 17)

The Egyptian and the Central American Mayan ancient writings claimed that their royal dynasty was started from this type of “half human” / “half god” offspring. The Nazi-Arian culture claims that their entire society is a product of this type of inter-mating with those spirit beings. This is why the Nazis thought that they were the “master race” during WW2.

After the flood those “angels”, rather “demons”, were forbidden to inter-mingle with humans the same way they did before the flood. Some of them were even placed in a spiritual prison which God made especially for them.

Jude 1:6 “And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.” This explains why, after the flood, those beings no longer related to people the same way they used to, before the flood. The History channel documentary “Ancient Aliens” gives many historical examples of that inter-mingling and inter-mating. However, that History channel documentary offers no explanation why the inter-mingling stopped. (Note – it stopped on an open/constant contact basis. However, even until today there are occasional rare reported cases of it happening in a non-public isolated individual manner.)

In the History channel documentary “Ancient Aliens” they present an enormous amount of evidence that many years ago there was regular open public contact between humans and those fallen angels, who were referred to by the common people, back in those days, as “gods”..... And their offspring from human women were treated as royalty, as though they were descended from the gods. However, the History channel documentary calls them extraterrestrials. That documentary also presents a lot of evidence that the people back then had advanced technology, which was taught to them by those “extraterrestrials”. (Keep in mind that almost all of our present day technology was developed within the last one hundred years (a short time). Back in those days, they had plenty of time to make advancements.)

Even as recently as 1985, in the “Back to the Future” movies, they couldn't imagine a laptop computer or the Internet, when they tried to depict how life would be like in 2015. More emphasis was put on flying cars, which still has not been attained as it was in those movies. They even mentioned that the postal service was inferior to the weather service, because they had no concept of instantaneous e-mail on the Internet..... And our weather service still isn't as good as it was in those movies.

As late as the mid 1990's most people would not have imagined a small pocket-sized portable music playing device without discs that is capable of storing and playing an enormous amount of music..... And how about small pocket cellular phones? Before the nineties they were like something out of Star Trek.) Modern technology has increased at a fast rate in a short time. So, how does all our advancement over a short time compare to the advancement back then when they had a lot more time than we have had.

The most famous evidence of advanced technology from the era long ago is the pyramids in Egypt and Mexico (Teotihuacan). Those pyramids were made with giant blocks of stone, brought from far away and cut with super precise advanced machinery. (Superior to modern machinery.) Our modern technology would have difficulty accomplishing such a feat..... and modern technology would take a long time to do it. In other words, our modern technology is inferior to whatever technology they were using. It is even said that they had the power of levitation (anti-gravity) in order to easily and quickly move those giant blocks of stone into place. They even made giant sculptures of Pharaohs cut from single stones, somehow moved into place, which are so heavy that our modern machinery (technology) is not capable of moving them.

They also had highly precise hieroglyphic images cut in stone that look so highly precise and symmetrically identical that they could only have been done by very advanced stone cutting machinery. It doesn't seem possible that a hammer and chisel could ever have done what they did with super high precision. They even cut tiny deep holes and thin deep lines perfectly straight into the stone. Their giant images of Pharaohs were also cut super precisely with absolutely identical symmetry.

Pieces of very old electric batteries have been found. In Peru, South America, in the Andes Mountains, in the ruins of the ancient city of Ollantaytambo there are six gigantic cut blocks of stone positioned in a straight line near the top of a mountain, 9,000 feet above sea level, brought from another mountain, which are so big and heavy that our modern machinery (technology) could not move them, much less get them up to the top of a steep mountain. Their knowledge of astronomy surpasses our modern astronomy, with our giant highly precise telescopes. The list goes on and on.

But, all that advanced technology was lost after the flood. The History channel documentary "Ancient Aliens" offers no explanation at all for why the old advanced technology was lost, with the exception that, in one place, they suggested the possibility of a nuclear war. However, they never claimed that nuclear war stopped all advanced technology. They merely mentioned the existence of the invention of nuclear power in those days.

Obviously, Noah did not continue using their advanced technology after the flood. It is quite probable that after the flood people had a negative mental association between advanced technology and evilness. Mental advancement was considered to be evil, vain, arrogant and anti-religious. After all, what good is advanced technology if people still die and go to hell? This negative mindset toward technological advancement can be found in writings all through history, since the flood. The modern technological advancements within the last century are due to the removal of that mind-set. One example of the opposition to this mindset was Galileo, who was almost executed because of his studies in astronomy. The telescope was new technology in those days. Another example was Leonardo da Vinci. But, in his case he understood the need for secrecy. He had to hide his scientific discoveries, and write them down in code that nobody in Italy could understand.

Another example of a historical alteration in this mentality was the “Illuminati”, which, at the beginning, were just a bunch of scientists like Galileo and Leonardo da Vinci. Those people had an extreme conflict with church leaders. My goodness, when Galileo said that the earth revolved around the sun he was accused of anti-Christian heresy. But, unlike other churches, the Roman Catholic Church decided to murder people who were heretics. Correct Bible teaching instructs faithful Christians to excommunicate heretics and stay away from them, not to kill them. (If indeed they are doing something which is legitimately anti-Christian heresy.)

Sometimes, the people who opposed scientific advancement made their accusations filled with unrealistic false “superstitions” that made them look bad. (especially in the eyes of modern science) And sometimes, the opposition was guilty of things like “obscurantism”, which was the practice of deliberately presenting information in imprecise, abstruse manner designed to limit further inquiry and understanding. They were deliberately restricting and suppressing the advancement of knowledge for what seemed to be nothing more than keeping everybody in the dark. That’s probably why it was called the “dark ages”, when technological advancement was almost at a complete halt.

On the one side, most of the religious leaders seemed to have no legitimate reason for opposing the advancement of science. And on the other side, the people who were more “scientific” were usually very anti-religious. Whether they want to admit it or not, technologically minded people tend to be very anti-religious and atheistic. Even when they don’t want to appear to be, they always seem to trust in their own intellect rather than trust in God. Their intellect ends up being like a strong muscle that they rely on automatically, without even thinking about it. They trust in themselves rather than trusting in God, and as a result they die and go to hell. They are lost. Their advanced technology is an empty false salvation, which has deceived them.

(Or, maybe the best attitude toward these things was shown by Sherlock Holmes, who, when he was informed by Dr. Watson that the earth revolves around the sun, he said, “Now that I know it, I’ll do my best to forget it.” He did not think it was important enough to occupy brain-space. Sherlock Holmes was famous for his super intellect, and he understood that the human mind was not capable of handling an infinite amount of information. So, it was best not to occupy important brain-space on things that were obviously insignificant and in-applicable to his important work.) (Notice – The modern “Sherlock Holmes” movies are not at all like the original books, and not nearly as good. The original books are now free with audio recordings of someone reading the books, in the public domain, at places like www.gutenberg.org/ And <https://librivox.org>)

In modern times, when most people hear the name “Illuminati”, they usually think of some dark, sinister, secret, evil mafia getting ready to take over the world. But actually, the “Illuminati” were not much different than our modern scientists. They were offensive to the old way of thinking back in those days because the old way of thinking understood that the “wonderfulness” of modern technology is not as “wonderful” as modern people think it is. After all, modern technology is very dangerous if it falls into the hands of evil people.

That old way of thinking persisted in suppressing technological advancement for a long time. It has only been about a hundred years or so that modern technological advancement has been given free liberty to excel. But since then, most people don’t attribute the modern general decline in morality to have anything to do with the modern liberal pursuit of technological advancement.

Intelligence can be used for either good or bad. And most intellectually advance people tend to be immoral, unethical, rotten, atheistic and anti-religious. However, this is not an absolute rule. The absence of morality is also difficult to measure, because people usually measure morality to their present-day concept of morality. Most people have difficulty perceiving morality which they are not accustomed to. (See article listed below on: The Role Of Women Throughout History)

In addition, most modern people don’t stop and think about what would happen if this “wonderful” modern technology were to be in the hands of morally corrupt people, like the Nazis were back in WW2. After all, what if Hitler had been the first to invent nuclear weapons? He was the first to start developing nuclear weapons, just a little before the US was developing them. And most people don’t know that the US military sabotaged Hitler’s nuclear project.

Another example of religious people who have rejected the modern technological rage are the Amish people who were originally mostly German immigrants to various parts of the world, (Mostly to the USA) who left Germany when Hitler rose to power. To this day, they can still be seen driving around in their horse drawn wagons. (See 1985 film “Witness”) Of course they themselves run into conflicts over the correct definition of exactly what is properly called anti-Christian heresy. (They won't even let their people use buttons on their clothing. It's considered proud, arrogant and vain.) They don't always agree on everything. They never use electricity or modern machinery. (You would think the reason why they don't use modern machinery is because they don't like air pollution. But no, reduced air pollution is just an added benefit.) (The horses also provide fertilizer for improved farming. They're the best farmers in the US.) The Mennonites are a similar religious group, but they permit their people to use electricity, telephones and cars. (See the Amish on YouTube.)

The big question is: what is the difference between the "angels" spoken of in the Bible and those "aliens" presented on the History channel documentary as "extraterrestrials"? First, concerning the ability to do advanced and supernatural things, there is no difference. The angels from the Bible could do everything that those "aliens" could do. The important thing to recognize is that the "extraterrestrials" are not using advanced technology, but rather, they are using an absence of technology. They defy the natural laws of physics. They are supernatural. Second, the purpose of the angels has always been primarily religious, whereas those "extraterrestrial" aliens (demons) are presented as being very non-religious and strongly atheistic. It is stated over and over in those History channel documentaries that every reference to religion in the Bible was simply a misunderstanding of people long ago who just didn't understand advanced technology. But, the people who are into the study of "extraterrestrials" can't seem to figure out that the ability of the aliens to do amazing things is not due to advanced technology. The "supernatural" activity of those beings is exactly that:..... supernatural. It is all in defiance of the natural laws of physics. For example, Einstein's theory of "worm holes". A "Worm hole" is not a study of physics. Einstein got the idea of "worm holes" from some other source, NOT by the study of physics.

So, those people who say that aliens are beings with advanced technology, say that the people who wrote the Bible who could not understand advanced technology invented a false religious explanation for a very natural non-supernatural high-tech phenomenon that they could not comprehend any other way. They also ignore the fact that, what they call "advanced technology" in the Bible is not technology at all, it is supernatural. Even to this day it is understood that almost all of the supernatural occurrences in the Bible are impossible to be explained by "advanced technology", like how Jesus walked on water. And many other miracles that Jesus did, mostly healing sick people.

Sometimes, those History channel documentaries even go as far as to say that the aliens are really super advanced human time travelers visiting us from our own future. It should also be noted that the majority of the religious messages in the Bible are about religious teachings that are completely unrelated to anything that could be interpreted as pertaining to advanced technology. Most of the messages in the Bible are about a spiritual relationship with God, which has nothing to do with unusual and inexplicable physical phenomenon.

The angels should be understood as created the way they are from their birth. They were not advanced human time travelers nor are they advanced in technology. Chameleons are born with the ability to change colors at will. Did those animals have to learn advanced technology to do that? No..... and neither did the angels have to learn advanced technology in order to change their form, or go back and forth from the spirit world, in another dimension, to the natural world. They can change their bodily form with no technology whatsoever.

Did Moses have to learn “advanced technology” before he parted the red sea? (Exodus 14) No! Did Jesus have to learn “advanced technology” before he walked on water? No! (Mat. 14:25-33) (Jesus was not wearing a jet-pack flight suit, you know.) Or, when Jesus commanded the storm to stop, and it stopped instantaneously? (Mark 4:37-41) Did he use “advanced technology” for that? No!

Technology is an illusion; it is a false way of salvation. Notice that the first sin in the Garden of Eden was the pursuit of “knowledge”. The serpent deceived Eve by telling her that the real reason why God prohibited the forbidden fruit was: Gen. 3:5 “....that in the day ye (y’all) eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.” The knowledge of “good and evil” is a direct reference to “conscience”. Conscience is a mental “revelation” of the difference between right and wrong without even having to be taught what is right and what is wrong. Before they ate that forbidden fruit, they did not comprehend that they were naked. (Gen 2:25) After they ate the fruit: Gen 3:7 “..... And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked....”

The human mind is supposed to be guided by the spirit. All knowledge is supposed to be used to follow God's will, not as a guide by itself. By itself, knowledge leads people to death and eternal hell fire. Throughout human history, since the flood, there has been a constant mental association between advanced knowledge (technology) and evilness, arrogance, vanity and atheism. This explains why technological advancements had not been pursued for a long time. Obviously, our present advancements in technology within the last century are due to the removal of that type of mentality. The truth is that the technological advancement of human beings, by nature, motivates corruption and in the end will bring the human race to Armageddon, death and hell. (Rev. 16:16)

What good is it if the human race obtains enormous advancements in science, medicine and technology, if they cannot overcome death? Why do so many people live as though they will never die? Why do people live as though they will never face God's judgment after death for their rebellious actions now? Matt 16:26 "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Heb 9:27 "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment:" (See article listed below on: Salvation.)

Technological advancement is kind of like rearranging deck chairs on the Titanic. Does it really matter so much if you go down on the first part of the ship as compared to going down on the last part of the ship? The real issue is whether you get on a life boat (salvation), not staying on the ship just a few minutes longer. Anyone who could not get on a life boat should have been looking to grab hold of something that floats enough to stay above the freezing water, not getting to the rear end of the ship. (Notice – most of the people in the water did not die of drowning, they froze to death.)

Technology and advancements in medicine will never stop death; they can only delay it, like the passengers on the Titanic staying aboard just a little longer by moving to the rear of the ship. (Most of those people at the rear of the ship probably drowned from the Titanic sucking them far below the surface as it went down. That was an appropriate ending for people who have such a delusional perception that moving to the rear of the ship will somehow save them; equally as delusional as people who put so much confidence in modern technology and medicine to save them. None of the people who stayed on the ship survived. There was no moonlight that night. None of the people that survived in the life-boats knew that the ship broke; it was too dark to see.

Nobody knew it broke until they found it in two pieces on the bottom of the ocean many years later. None of the people that moved to the rear of the ship survived. They were the only people who knew that the ship broke.) Technology cannot provide salvation for the human soul; in fact it gives a false counterfeit illusion, which deceives people and sends them to hell. Modern technology is a deception, which will eventually lead to Armageddon. (Rev 16:16)

Those History channel "Ancient Alien" documentaries are really quite interesting, inasmuch that they show an abundance of evidence that there were regular supernatural visitors and advanced technology many years ago here on earth. But, one must be careful to interpret their message correctly in accordance to the teachings of the Bible, not the other way around. They present those "extraterrestrials" as though they provide a way to live forever, if we can only achieve their level of technology. (It is a false salvation that nobody will ever attain.)

It would also be a good idea to see “Ancient Aliens Debunked”, found on www.youtube.com. The biggest problem with the “Ancient Alien” documentaries is that they are under a lot of pressure to fill up too much time (to make more episodes), and therefore they end up stretching things and filling up time with insufficient or erroneous material because they are under a lot of pressure to produce more episodes than they can handle. The “Ancient Aliens Debunked” spends a lot of time debunking only part of the “Ancient Aliens” errors that they ignore the stuff that can't be debunked. It is important to distinguish between the things that can be debunked and the things that can't be debunked. Nobody throws away an apple because they don't want to eat the core.

Both the “Ancient Aliens” and “Ancient Aliens Debunked” seem to be right in part and wrong in part. For example: “Ancient Aliens” always assumes that all the ancient stone cutting was done with exclusively advanced tools, whereas “Ancient Aliens Debunked” demonstrates that much of the stone cutting could be done with simple primitive tools, and even shows ancient depictions (ancient drawings) of workers using those simple tools. (After all, don't forget about the high quality artistic sculptures made back then with only primitive tools. Michael Angelo didn't have advanced tools, and look at his high quality sculptures.)

However, “Ancient Aliens Debunked” ignores some of the giant stone cuttings that could not even be done or even moved by our modern machinery. They also ignore all of the advanced knowledge of astronomy written about in those ancient writings, more advanced than our modern astronomy. Also, things like the distance markers at Teotihuacan, Egypt and Hedge-stone that show the exact distances to all the planets in our solar system, which could never have been done by primitive man. They also ignore the writings about the regular contact, and inter-mating those “Angels” were having with the people back then, which is even mentioned in the Bible. (Gen. 6:2, 4)
